Program Notes

Franz Schubert to a friend
Vienna, March 31, 1824

My brightest hopes have come to nothing, the joys of friendship and love soon turn to sorrows, and even my pleasure in beauty itself is in danger of dying away! "Meine Ruh' ist hin, mein Herz ist schwer" - thus sang Gretchen at her spinning wheel. So might I know sing every day, for every night I go to bed hoping that I shall not awake again, and each only brings back all the sorrows and grief of the day before. And so I spend my days joyless and friendless.

Johann Sebastian Bach to the Town Council
Leipzig, August 24, 1736

Magnificent, most honorable gentlemen, our wise and learned councilors, distinguished Lords and Patrons, etc.,

May it please you to condescend to hear how Herr Johannes Fredrich Eitelwein, a merchant in the town of Leipzig, was married on the twelfth of August of the present year out of town, and therefore thinks himself entitled to withhold the fees due us in all such cases and has made bold to disregard our many kind reminders. Whereas, the said fees make up the greater part of our emoluments - a perquisite of our position - and no one has hitherto endeavoured to withhold from us our lawful share.

We therefore feel compelled to beg you, honoured Lords and Gracious Patrons, for this reason to take us under your protection and by your decision to uphold us in our old rights and agreed salary, and further to enjoin upon the said Herr Eitelwein that he remit to us a due proportion of the foresaid marriage fees, together with the costs occasioned, in this instance, which we also claim.

With all respect and reverence, from your most humble and devoted servant,

Johann Sebastian Bach
